
Association for Laboratory Phonology

2011 membership application

Membership in the Association for Laboratory Phonology confers a number of benefits and services, including:

- Journal subscription: LabPhon membership includes subscription to the association journal Laboratory Phonology. Individual journal subscription is currently available exclusively through LabPhon membership. Membership runs by calendar year, so that membership in 2011 pays for the two issues of Vol. 2.
- Conference subsidy: LabPhon members will be eligible for the reduced member rates for future LabPhon conference registration.
- Vote: LabPhon members are eligible to vote in elections of members to the Executive Council and in other initiatives such as amendments to the by-laws.
- Executive Committee: LabPhon members with full member status are eligible to stand for election to the Executive Committee and to nominate other members for election.
- Member database: LabPhon members have access to the Association's database of members.
